Vienna, August 1.

A Courier from Turin has brought Advice, That the Count of Aversberg the Imperial Plenipotentiary there, dy'd the 14th of last Month. A new Minister will speedily be nominated to go to the Duke of Savoy in his room. The 29th Ult. the Marquis del Vasto had a private Audience of the Emperour, and on the part of the King of Spain, pass'd the Compliments of Condolance and Congratulation: The next Day, the Marquis notify'd to the Imperial Privy Council and to the foreign Ministers, that he had taken upon him the Character of his Catholick Majesty's Ambassadour Extraordinary. 'Tis thought his Excellency will not be too hasty to put himself to the Expence of making a Publick Entry, or appearing with an extraordinary Equipage. Count Windisgrats is shortly to go to Saltzbourg, to take care his Imperial Majesty's Interest do not suffer by the Election that is to be made of a Co-adjutor of that Archbishoprick; for which Office, Cardinal Lamberg, the Bishop of this City, that of Crems, and others, will stand Candidates. Baron Sirmay is gone from hence to Sereth, to deliver to Prince Ragotski the Emperor's Resolutions touching an Accommodation with the Malecontents. That Prince has written Letters to the Potentates who are Mediators in this Affair, to thank them for interposing their good Offices, and desire them to see that what through their Mediation shall be agreed be fairly perform'd. This Court resents the said Prince's having caus'd a Medal to be struck, in which he styles himself Prince of Transylvania; but however 'tis not doubted, a suspension of Arms for a short time will be agreed on, in order to the settling of Preliminaries to the Treaty, and a Place fix'd for treating: The Malecontents propose Pest, but the Imperial Court are rather for some Place in the Upper Hungary: The Bishop of Osnabrug is thought of for one of the Imperial Commissioners, he having great Credit among the Hungarion Clergy. In case the Treaty we are mentioning come to nothing, the Command of the Imperial Army in Hungary is intended to be given to Count Guido of Staremberg, who is said to be shortly expected here from Italy. The Insurrection of the Peasants in Moravia, is quell'd for the present, by Assurances given them that they shall be eas'd of certain Taxes they complain of; and Count Leopold of Diedrichstein, who is generally very much belov'd in that Province, will be sent thither to settle its Quier. The 30th of July 4 Companies of Count Schlick's Regiment that kept Guard near the Palace of Favorita, march'd to Moravia to join 2 Regiments of Danish Horse, 1 Battallion of Imperialists, and several thousand Peasants, to hinder the Malecontents from making any more Irruptions into that Province. The Danube having overflow'd for this Week past, the Troops which were to have joyn'd General Herbeville have not been able yet to come up to him.

From the Leiden Gazette, dated August 13.

Basil, Aug. 6. A Conference is to be held here shortly, between the Cantons of Zurich and Bern on one Part, and the Venetian Resident on the other, in order to the Conclusion of the Treaty for renewing the Alliance between those 2 Cantons and the Republick of Venice. The Deputies of the Roman Catholick Cantons now at Baden have, since, confirm'd Advice came of the forcing of the French Lines in Brabant by the Army of the Allies, propos'd in full Diet the sending of a Letter in the Name of the Helvetick Body to the Potentates engag'd in the present War, to exhort them to Peace; which Motion being approv'd by all the Deputies, those of Zurich and Bern only excepted, the Letter was drawn up and read, and a Copy of it sent by the Deputies to their severall Principals for their Approbation. The 1st of this Month, the Marquis de Puiseux and Beretti Landi, Ministers of France and Spain, left the Diet at Baden, to return, the first to Soluthurn, the other to Lucerne. When the Marquis de Puiseux was got to Alen, half Way between Baden and Soluthurn, he sent back one of his Servants to Baden, to acquaint some of his Friends that on the Road he had receiv'd an Account by an Express from the Court of France, that the Duke of Marlborough having pass'd the River Dyle with half his Army to attack the Elector of Bavaria, his Electoral Highness receiv'd him with great Vigour and Success, soon ruin'd his Bridges, cut him off from the rest of his Army, and afterwards made such a Slaughter of those who had pass'd the River, that nothing but the Battle of Hochstet could be compar'd to it; that in short, he had gain'd a compleat Victory over the Allies, the Duke of Marlborough being kill'd and Monsieur d' Auverquerque taken Prisoner. This News was immediately spread in Baden by those to whom Monsieur de Puiseux sent it; but the Letters from Germany arriving soon after, spoil'd all by relating the true Story.

From the Imperial Army near Lauterbourg, Aug. 7. The Generals are return'd from Raftad, where they conferr'd with Prince Lewis of Baden about the Operations of the rest of the Campaign, and the Troops are order'd to hold themselves ready to decamp. The Enemy have abandon'd the Castles of Harten and Rodern, and we have put Garrisons into them. Deserters having reported the Marshal de Villars detach'd Part of his Army Yesterday towards Wewersheim, and that that Detachment pass'd the Rhine there in the Evening to destroy the Forrage about Stoblhoffen, some Parties were sent over the said River to get Intelligence of them, but they return'd without hearing of them. The Prussian Horse continues on the other side of the Rhine, and the Palatine Troops that are in the Pay of England and Holland have not yet joyn'd us: 'Tis said they are to go to the Lower Rhine, the Horse by Land, the Foot by Water, in order from thence to repair to the Army under the Duke of Marlborough, in Brabant.

From the Amsterdam Gazette, dated August 14.

Letters of the 9th of this Month from the Upper Rhine, confirm, that the Army at Lauterbourg is ready to decamp, to put some Design in Execution. That Army consists of 68 Battalions and 113 Squadrons. The Enemy have sent over the Rhine most of their Horse and 2000 Foot, which have taken Post at Sontheim; whereupon some Imperial Battalions are sent over likewise to reinforce the Guards of the Lines of Stoblhoffen. While the Enemy lay encamp'd at Grop-Weissenbourg, above 400 Deserters ters came to Lauterbourg, and a greater number to Landau. 30 Pieces of heavy Cannon are embark'd at Ingolstadt, to be sent up the River to Ulm, and thence to the Rhine.

From the Harl. and Amst. Courant, dated August 15.

Frankfort, July 29. Four Regiments of Horse and 1500 Foot, commanded by General Hohenzollern, which were posted near Landau, are on their march to reinforce the Imperial Army near Lauterbourg: Which Army 'tis said will decamp in 5 or 6 days and attempt to force the Enemy's Lines at Haguenau. The French are demolishing Homburg. General Bettendorf is gone to the Hague to desire that the Palatine Troops which are in the Pay of Holland, may continue upon the Rhine. 'Tis advis'd from Switzerland, that the Diet at Baden is broke up, without having done any Business of Moment.

From the Amsterdam Gazette, dated August 14.
